SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1904.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,225

The beef trust was too tough a mouthful for its employees. The trust would say that they bit off more than they could chew.

Those Democrats in this state who all along have wanted to vote for Theodore Roosevelt for president may do it reasonably next November. Roosevelt's vote will be an extraordinarily large one in Vermont.

The Randolph Herald and News says: "It is clear now why nature provided the Russians with longer legs than the Japanese." They surely weren't made to fight on, at least with the Japanese.

Joshua Grant of Derby is finding it more difficult to secure a seat in the House of Representatives than he did to step up to the governor's chair. It is embarrassing to have one's election as representative contested after occupying the governor's chair.

Vermont—Democrats and Republicans—are anxiously waiting to hear what W. Bourke Cockran says of the recent state election. The New York Sun opines that Cockran is "among the most successful Republican campaigners ever turned loose in the Green Mountain state."

That "second Bull Run" which has just been fought by United States regulars and state militia might cause the veterans to smile, but even the veterans would wish they had just a taste of this practice before they attempted to lick the "Johnnies" at one fell swoop.

Farming interests are not likely to suffer in the legislature this year, with such men as C. J. Bell as the state's chief executive, George W. Pierce of Brattleboro in the senate, and George Aitken, superintendent of the Billing's farm in Woodstock, in the house—Brattleboro Phoenix.

Yes, the farming interests may be considered pretty thoroughly fixed this time at least.

To the Springfield, Mass., Republican it appears that Vermont's next house will "average stronger than usual" and the Senate will contain "few men who are well known in the state and the average is apparently below the usual standard." Manifestly it is up to the next Vermont Senate to show its mental calibre to this critic.

The owner of an opera house in Rutland, in which hundreds of people congregate, is standing off the Rutland city council which has ordered him to provide his theatre with an asbestos curtain. He threatens to close his house if the authorities insist on their demands. The authorities should insist. They perhaps would lose little by insisting.

Three hundred and nineteen votes for the Republican candidate for governor and 210 for the Republican nominee for town representative indicates a lovely state of affairs in the Republican party of the town of Swanton, says the Swanton Courier. A situation with all the same ear-marks might have been observed in a city not far removed from Barre.

In the death of Dr. George C. Lorimer of New York, formerly at the head of Tremont Temple in Boston, the pulpit of this country loses one of its foremost men. Tremont Temple in the years of Dr. Lorimer's pastorate, reached the common people as few churches nowadays do, and its power was correspondingly great. Reach the common people is the aim of the church, but few realize their aim as Tremont Temple has done.

The little town of Sharon in Windsor county has a good man in Charles Downer and the citizens are not slow to present him to the public. After having served in the House one term, Mr. Downer was two years ago elected by Windsor county as one of its senators. Now Sharon has taken him up again and will send him to the house again. In addition to these honors Mr. Downer was one of the district delegates to the Republican national convention this summer. For a young man Mr. Downer is making good, long strides.

School Suits—just a bit better than one would expect at the price—perhaps a good bit better than can be found elsewhere, because our Department for Boys' Clothing is our strong point.

We take time to find the best and we take the money and buy it—the mothers appreciate good clothing for "good boys."

Reefers, Russian and Sailor Suits, Tourists and Automobile Overcoats, Norfolk, single and double-breasted, all the new styles, $1.50 to $6.50.

WE CLEAN, PRESS AND REPAIR CLOTHING.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Miss Laura Clark of Randolph, who completed a special course in Columbia college last spring and received the degree of A. M., is now professor of science in Salem college at Salem, N. C., where her mother, Mrs. S. S. Clark, will join her about Christmas and spend the rest of the winter.

George Huxley and Harley Warden of Greensboro went hunting Wednesday, and Harley fired at a partridge which flew up a few rods from him. His friend who was a few rods further away in the same range received the charge of shot scattered from his ankle to his chin. Dr. Kinney dressed the wound and George is doing as well as could be expected.

The Morrisville market still continues to gain strength with a slight advance from last week. Receipts are falling off but are much larger than last year. Local prices are as follows: Finest large separator dairy, prints, 19 cents; finest large separator, boxes, 18 1/2 cents; finest large separator, tubs, 18 cents; small dairies, 15 to 17 cents. Large dairies mean at least fifty pounds, all made within a week.

The visit of Senator Proctor, John W. Titcomb and H. N. Carter to Swanton Wednesday probably means that the fish hatchery which has been in contemplation for some time will be built so it can be used next spring. Senator Proctor said that funds for the purpose could be taken from the general fund and that no special appropriation by congress would be necessary. The site for the hatchery has not been secured yet, but it will be on the bank of the river near the village.

All the members of the Rutland baseball team have left that city, some for their homes and others to join teams for the remainder of the season. Dan and Minniehan went to Plattsburg, N. Y., to join a camping party for a short time. Cotter and Cariveau have gone to the St. Louis exposition. Sheehan, Robertson and O'Hara are at their homes in Arlington, Mass., New York and Waverly, N. Y., respectively, and McMahon, Carroll and O'Brien are at Hinsdale, Mass., to play until the close of the season.

The 51st annual meeting of the Vermont State Medical society will be held at Baxter hall in Rutland October 13 and 14. Both the second and third floors of the Baxter building have been engaged for the occasion. The upper floor will be used for the meetings and the second floor for exhibits of medical and surgical equipment. These exhibits will be made a special feature of the meeting and it is expected that some of the largest firms in this part of the country will be represented. Several noted medical men will speak.

Fremont Brown of Barnard, who has worked four seasons at the Bradlaugh farm, was taken to Burlington last Monday to be treated for lockjaw. Getting a splinter in his hand, it became swollen. When a poultice was applied, the swelling disappeared, leaving a slight soreness. In a couple of days, he complained of a pain in his face and jaws. Thinking it was neuralgia, he kept on working until Monday when he called on Dr. Hubbard, who started with him for Dr. L. M. Greene, who counseled that the hospital was the place for him, as his case was lockjaw.

There was a fine show of cattle at the East Corinth fair; 20 fine yoke of oxen were on the town team, Arthur Comstock having charge of it. His cart was trimmed with evergreens and he carried a load of finely dressed ladies and gentlemen. He took the first premium. Topsham had a fine string of six yokes of oxen. Blake Locke took the lead with his fine bull, which is broken to harness and drives as well as any horse. The show of horses was exceptionally good, also sheep and hogs. There was quite a good display of poultry and vegetables. E. B. Dickinson of Chelsea had honey. There were several different exhibitors of apples, also of butter by the different creameries. The floral hall was well filled with needlework, quilts, rugs, sofa pillows, and many useful, as well as ornamental, articles.

CURRENT COMMENT.

What the Press of the State and Country is Talking About.

We can't imagine anything that would suit General Corbin much better than fighting bulletless battles—From the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

If matters continue at the rate they have been going of late, residents of St. Petersburg will soon be able to mount their own house-tops and judge for themselves of the merits of the contest between the Russians and the Japs—From the Detroit Free Press.

The Houston, Tex., Post thinks there is enough lynching in the north without the South getting in the habit. The sentiment is good, only the geographical terms need transposing—From the Milwaukee Sentinel.

UNION LABEL ON EGGS WANTED.

Ingenious Device Wherewith Hens Will Do Stamping Themselves.

New York, Sept. 8.—The Egg Inspectors' Mutual Protective Union of Newark has risen in the majesty of organized labor to demand that all egg crates handled by members of their organization shall hereafter bear the union label. With it goes an appeal to union labor to eat, beat or cook no egg which doesn't come from a properly labelled crate. The members of the union admit that sympathetic fellow unionists may have some trouble when eggs are sold in bulk in telling whether or not they came from a properly stamped crate. The Egg Inspectors' Union has met with that difficulty. Every union egg laid, inspected and packed under union auspices must bear the union label. To insure this one of the organized egg inspectors has patented a very ingenious little device, affixed to every hen in good standing with the eggsmiths' union it will stamp the egg indelibly with the gonfalon of union labor at the very moment of its birth.

JIN-LES AND JESTS.

The Sum of Life.

So many kisses given
And forgiven!

So many kisses gotten
And forgiven!

So many ways of swearing
And forswearing!

So many days of bearing
And forbearing!

So many measures bidden
And forbidden!

So many treasures—nothing—
And for nothing!

His Esteem.

"I can't feel that a man who looks after his pecuniary interests as closely as you do really loves his country." "You are mistaken," answered Mr. Grafton Grab. "I regard my country with feelings of affection and profound gratitude. If it weren't for my country where would all these salaries and perquisites come from?"—Washington Star.

Little drops of water,
Little grains of sand,
Make the mighty ocean
And the pleasant land.

Bigger drops of water,
Bigger grains of sand,
Also would have made 'em
On the other hand.
